

A very brief tip for you--This morning when I was in the throes of final packing for vacation (I'm leaving in moments) I called a dear friend for moral support.

She reminded me of my advice about organizing -- DO ONE SMALL AREA!

She talked about her decision recently to deal with a mountain of mail-one of the challenging areas in her life. She decided that she could and WOULD deal with JUST THREE pieces of mail. She knew she could tackle THREE.

She did! By dealing with three pieces only- and then the next three she handled the WHOLE MOUNTAIN! So I started with my socks.

Yesterday when I did a virtual consultation (the coolest thing!) (see the new page on my website) for details- I recommended the same thing - do just that one table area!

Tip -- tackle a tiny area!!!

HAPPY ORGANIZING!
